Mountain-Moving Earthquake Takes Heavy Toll In California

Another Shock Within 36 Hours Is Possible

11 Are Known Dead

TEHACHAPI, Calif. (AP)—An earthquake of such shattering force that it literally moved mountains hit this little town with its greatest fury Monday, killing 11, injuring more than a score of others and leaving much of the town homeless.

Nine of the victims were children. They died in the dark as the quake sent walls of every major building in the town tumbling. The big Tehachapi State Prison for women was badly damaged, but there were no injuries among the frightened felons.

Gov. Earl Warren, U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland and state Civil Defense leaders flew to Tehachapi to personally assess the damage. Aid was rushed over buckled highways, some of them partly blocked by landslides.

Amid the rush to bring help to the stricken town came a cautious warning from a top-ranking seismologist that another quake might come within 36 hours, and an estimate from another that the earth high in the Tehachapi Mountains may have moved 40 to 50 feet along the fault line.

BULLDOZERS GET BUSY
On the four-lane Ridge Route, where a huge slide poured down on the freeway, a highway patrolman said "the whole top of a mountain seems to have slid off." Rescuers, using bulldozers, began to move the slide on a totally unconfirmed report that one or more cars might be buried.

There were these other highlights as the assessments of damage took form hours after the first violent shock:
Four railroad tunnels were "damaged extensively," and the Southern Pacific estimated it might be four to five days before repairs could be made. The route is used jointly by S. P. and the Santa Fe.

Several highways in addition to the Ridge Route were either badly damaged or closed entirely by earth slides and buckling pavement.
An oil refinery was set afire, and still blazed hours later.

100-MILE RADIUS
Although the damage here was by far the most severe, it spread over a radius of nearly 100 miles. Bakersfield, a city of 35,000, was hard hit although no one was killed. So were other Kern County communities as Taft and Maricopa.

Even over the mountains in Los Angeles and up the San Joaquin Valley to Fresno, the damage toll mounted and was sure to be in the millions of dollars.

Dr. Hugo Benioff of California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, told reporters that another earthquake, possibly as strong or stronger than Monday's could follow. He said that about one time in 20 in a quake of such magnitude, that is the case. Meanwhile, the area continued to rock periodically from what seismologists call setting after-shocks.

San Francisco escaped damage but damage in Los Angeles was extensive although minor in nature.

EARTHQUAKE SLIDE BLOCKS MAIN HIGHWAY—Bulldozers work to clear a mountain slide from U.S. 99, a main Los Angeles-to-San Francisco highway, after Monday's strong earthquake caused the slide.

The work was being hurried at top speed on the chance that one or more cars might be buried under the tons of dirt. (AP Wirephoto Monday Night.)

Ban On Fair Swine Shows Is Expected To Combat Disease

By ARCH DONOVAN (Star Staff Writer)

Swine shows, exhibitions and sales at state and county fairs in the Northcentral states are expected to be banned during a meeting of state veterinarians and sanitary officers this week in an action against a rare but increasing hog disease.

Dr. H. W. Garrett, Iowa state veterinarian, indicated Monday he will call a meeting of state veterinarians in Des Moines, probably on Thursday, to see if agreement can be obtained to halt exhibitions in all of the hog producing states of the Midwest.

Illinois is reported as also favoring the plan.

Dr. E. P. Anderson, Nebraska state veterinarian, pointed out that such showings are already prohibited under his recent directive, which only permits assemblage of hogs for sale and immediate slaughter. Sale of stock animals is prohibited.

Would Hurt Fair
Secretary Edwin Schultz, secretary of the Nebraska State Fair Board, said he would have no comment until show bans action was taken.

He admitted elimination of swine activities would be a more severe blow to Nebraska than some surrounding states, because one of the largest swine shows in the Midwest is held in Lincoln during the State Fair.

Anderson said 500 farms in the state suspected of shipping hogs with vesicular exanthema have been inspected and no trace of the disease found on them. He expressed a conviction, gained from information obtained here and in other states, that the disease is caused by feeding of raw garbage.

Garbage Cause?
Dr. Anderson said control work is hampered by complaints that lots are feeding raw garbage, which should have been inspected and controlled by city and county health units. He said inspection

Democratic Party Spells Prosperity, Peace—McKinney

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (P)—Chairman Frank E. McKinney Friday night lauded the Democratic Party as the one of peace and prosperity and said that "never before have the forces of wealth and privilege been so strongly mobilized for an assault on the things it stands for."

Stevenson Offers Acceptance Hint
CHICAGO (Tuesday) (P)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, still resisting a growing move in the Democratic national convention to draft him as its presidential nominee, gave a hint that he would not reject the nomination.

Stevenson took leave of newsmen last night by referring them to Matthew 26:40, which reads: "O, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless, not as I will but as Thou wilt."

Polio Kills Blair Man
OMAHA (P)—Elliot Spickler, 42, of Blair, Neb., died Monday night of polio at Douglas County Hospital. Spickler, who entered the hospital Saturday, had been in critical condition. He had been in an iron lung.

(Iron lungs rushed to Omaha from West Coast and Iowa polio epidemic story on Page 7.)

'Saucers' Picked Up By Radar

Eerie Visitation Over Nation's Capital Vicinity Reported By Air Force

WASHINGTON (P)—The Air Force disclosed Monday night it has received reports of an eerie visitation by unidentified aerial objects—perhaps a new type of "flying saucer"—over the vicinity of the nation's capital.

For the first time, so far as known, the objects were picked up by radar—indicating actual substance rather than mere light.

In addition, they were described as traveling at a slow 100 to 130 miles per hour—in contrast with incredible swiftness attributed to earlier saucers—although at times they shot up and down.

The "objects" were also described as hovering in one position.

The Air Force said no planes were sent out in an attempt to intercept the objects, and no sightings were reported by "Operation Sky-Watch," the round-the-clock ground observer operation now under way around the northern arc of the United States.

The Air Force said it has received only a preliminary report and therefore does not know why no attempt at interception was made.

The air traffic control center at Washington National Airport, just across the Potomac River from the capital, reported that its radar operators picked up eight of the slow-moving objects around midnight last Saturday. They were flying in the vicinity of nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

The center said Capital Airlines Flight 807, southbound from National Airport, reported seeing seven objects between Washington and Martinsburg, W. Va., at 1:15 a.m. CST, the same night.

Keeney Rites Thursday
Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Keeney, 1927 No. 27th, who died Monday, will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Wadlows.

Surviving besides parents are a brother and sister, Gary Lee and Carol, both at home; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Keeney of Lincoln, and Mr. Riney of Buffalo.

Burial will be at Wyuka.

BLUE-EYED HORSE:
A 12-year-old Lincoln girl and her blue-eyed pony, Tarzan, were together again Monday night.

Tony, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Orin Stepanek of 839 So. 37th, was pretty blue and mighty worried when she discovered Sunday night that her pony was missing from the F. W. Putney home, 844 So. 51st, where she stabled it.

Monday night a happy Tony rode Tarzan home from the highway near the College View Sale Barn. A 15-year-old girl, who chose Tarzan as the best means of transportation in running away from home, had ridden the pony that far.

Tony told The Star that Tarzan is an Indian pony, its size between that of a horse and a Shetland pony. She described the pony after it was first missed, as having "blue eyes" and being brown and white.

The girl said her pony answers to its name and does tricks such as shaking hands and bowing.

It would have been a real tragedy to Tony if she hadn't found her pony, according to Mrs. Stepanek.

Convention Overrides Bitter Protests Of Dixie

By J. E. LAWRENCE (Editor, The Lincoln Star)

CHICAGO—Nebraska's delegates to the convention were split on the question of a "loyalty oath" resolution Monday night before the convention by a voice vote approved a motion by Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan to require every delegation to work for the party's nominees.

Chairman James J. Fitzgerald of the Nebraska delegation reported he had polled the state's delegates informally and a majority opposed the "loyalty oath." He did not say how individuals had voted, but it appeared that they had split along the lines of a split on candidates.

There are six delegates for Kerr, one for Russell and five for Kefauver. Kefauver delegates apparently favored the resolution, the others against.

CHICAGO—There was an air of expectancy at the opening session of the Democratic National Convention when Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois was escorted to the microphones for a welcoming address.

For a man who on no less than a dozen occasions has said that he was not a candidate for his party's nomination, and still maintaining that outward position, it appeared that the distinguished Illinois governor was very much of a candidate.

He did not fail the convention crowd. Although his voice appeared a little high-pitched, and obviously Gov. Stevenson did not attempt to put too much power into what he was saying, the address itself will suffer none by comparison with the one given earlier at the Republican National Convention by ex-President Herbert Hoover.

In its crisp and polished sentences it was somewhat of a classic. Punctuated on frequent occasions with sharp, crackling applause, both before he spoke and at his conclusion, Gov. Stevenson was given a warm and enthusiastic ovation.

Reminding the convention crowd that only three times in 100 years had Illinois elected a Democratic governor, he said its prairies were broad and its people were able to see a long distance. One of its Democratic governors, he pointed out, was a German only one generation removed from the old.

Naturally some faulty strategy figured in the attempt to mass behind Barkley had been sprung too early upon the convention.

Inevitably Gov. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver appeared to be the beneficiaries of the cooling-off of the Barkley boom.

But at this stage of the game the first roll call held forth every promise of introducing a parade of favorite sons. No one had the slightest idea how many complimentary votes would be recorded. That first ballot could have votes for as many as twenty or more men, unless things jelled more rapidly than they have been, and in a hurry.

It was Illinois day at the convention, what with Gov. Stevenson and Sen. Paul Douglas, along with Mayor Kennedy of Chicago all delivering addresses.

Perhaps the most colorful incident of the initial session came when John A. Pittman, winner of the Congressional Medal in the fighting in Korea, a Mississippian twice sorely wounded, who beyond the call of duty saved the men under his command, was introduced and spoke briefly.

In modest spirit reflecting the thought of men in action, Sgt. Pittman told the convention that the will to battle sprang from the spark deep within a man.

"I knew I was a long way from Mississippi, but never once lost the feel of home."

It was a lazy day for the Nebraskans. Most of the delegation were in their seats when the convention got under way. No caucus was on schedule but a considerable amount of mail was being received by the individual members.

The bulk of it came from Kefauver supporters in Nebraska, including some petitions from Lincoln asking the delegation to support the April Primary winner.

Gov. Stevenson's Chances To Get Nod Brighter

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (Tuesday) (AP)—The Democratic national convention overrode bitter Dixie protests early today to require delegates to pledge that they will support the party nominee in November.

Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, the temporary chairman, announced the adoption of a rule proposed by Sen. Moody of Michigan.

It had been urged by forces of Averell Harriman and Sen.

Estes Kefauver as the climax to a bitter dispute over the seating of anti-Truman delegations from Texas and Mississippi.

Senator Allan Ellender of Louisiana told a newsmen: "I think we may walk out. It looks that way—but we'll decide what to do in a caucus Tuesday."

Senator Russell Long of Louisiana said he didn't know whether the Louisiana delegation would accept the Moody resolution. "We'll think about it and decide Tuesday," Long said.

Earlier in the night Vice President Alben W. Barkley pulled out of the race for the presidential nomination with a crack at "self-anointed political leaders" of AFL and CIO who labeled him too old at 74. (See Barkley story on Page 14.)

Barker rank and file democrats appeared Monday night to be bent on thrusting the party presidential nomination toward Adlai Stevenson. The Illinois governor did not reach out to seize it—but neither did he thrust it back.

And as the Democratic clans listened in national convention to the keynote call to the political campaign ahead, word raced among them that President Truman might leap with them to a Stevenson bandwagon.

All at once in the opening hours of the 31st party convention, Stevenson had become the favorite of many bewildered, leaderless delegates who didn't know quite where to turn for a presidential candidate. When they did begin to rally around him, it was toward Stevenson, it was toward a man who has been saying over and over he just doesn't want to be president.

Authorities with White House connections predicted Truman would take note of the turn of events by coming out himself for Stevenson.

Compromise Rejected
Just before the final voice vote on the loyalty rule, the convention had shouted down an effort to compromise the bitter North-South fight.

The compromise had been offered by Sen. Spessard Holland of Florida as a substitute for Moody's proposal.

The Holland resolution, originally offered by Jonathan Daniels of North Carolina, would have stated merely that the "honorable course of every delegate who participated in this convention is to support the majority decisions here and hereafter."

Moody's rule provides that state delegation chairmen be required to certify that they and their delegates will vote to get the convention nominees on the state ballots in November.

Informed of reports that he might get a Truman blessing for the nomination, Stevenson simply exclaimed:

"Dear God, oh no! I'm not trying to be nominated."

Then, a bit later, as he came into this amphitheater for the night session of the convention, he tossed this word to newsmen:

Greatly Gratified
"If I were seeking the nomination, I would be enormously gratified by the President's support. But since I'm not seeking the nomination I'm alarmed that it will lend fuel to the draft fire."

For the 1952 keynote speech, the main kick-off address that is expected to sound the rallying cry to the political wars against the Republicans, the party selected Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts.

As always, it was one of those praise-the-Democrats, sneer-at-Republicans speeches that was just what the party partisans were looking for. The Democrats, Dever said, found the nation "in shambles" when they took over 20 years ago. Now, he said, the economy is sound and "the average American family is much better off."

Slapping at the Republicans as fossils, he said that in picking Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower they had chosen a novice "completely untrained in the art of civil government."

KIDS, CLOWNS STEAL SHOW:

Legion Parade Swings Through City

With bands and bugles and thumping drums, Legionnaires of two world wars paraded down O Street Monday as hundreds of shoppers left stores to stand in the sun and watch.

Kiddies and clowns stole the show.

A pint-sized drum and bugle corps from Norfolk Post No. 16 and two groups of little-girl drum majorettes drew the biggest applause from spectators, especially when the Norfolk group executed drills in the intersection of 13th and O.

Prague Post No. 254, with their rickety old car towing a "Humphrey Pennyworth Special" clanged, banged and smoked to the delight of youngsters along the street.

One candidate's campaign car featured two girls smoking big cigars.

Three Lincoln motorcycle officers led the parade, followed by the massed colors with 16 American and a number of Legion flags. Then came four officials of the state organization and Lincoln Post No. 3's Drum and Bugle Corps.

Legionnaire Walter Raacke, Democratic candidate for governor, marched along with the Central City group. The woman commander of Lincoln's Post No. 3, Maryellen Lorton, was driven through in an old model-T.

Fifty Lincoln firemen-veterans on two fire trucks brought up the end of the march.

The parade started at 15th and O, went west on O to 9th and then north to Que.

Demo Convention— 19 Named To Draw Up Platform

Labor Leaders Urge Strong Civil Rights

CHICAGO (AP)—A 19-member group was named Monday to draft the Democratic campaign platform—a tough and thankless task which seemed destined to wind up in another bitter battle over the "civil rights" issue.

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who presided at five days of public hearings, will head the group assigned to rough out the proposed planks.

He said the drafters will hold continuous day and night sessions starting Monday night in hopes of having a platform ready for the document committee by 8:30 a.m. (CST) Wednesday.

Filibusters' target
That full group must approve the document before it is presented, probably later that day, to the whole convention.

Walter Reuther, CIO leader, and other top labor organization spokesmen issued a vigorous demand at final hearings Monday not only for a strong civil rights program but also "an anti-filibuster plank."

What they want is a party declaration in favor of a change of the Senate's rules to make it easier to shut off filibusters—endless debate which Southern senators have employed in the past to defeat civil rights legislation.

No Headway Seen As Truce Talks Resume

MUNSAN (Tuesday, AP)—Allied and Communist truce delegations met for the 15th time in secret today to debate the stalemate issue of prisoner exchange.

The session at Panmunjom was scheduled for 11 a.m. (8 p.m. CST, Monday).

There was nothing to encourage hope for settlement of the remaining dispute blocking an armistice.

The delegates met for only 20 minutes Monday in above 90-degree heat. The brevity of the session, like the 12-minute meeting the day before, suggested that both sides had run out of arguments and that the cloak of secrecy would be lifted.

No headway
The departure from the Allied camp of Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols seemed to point up the belief that the secret talks were not making headway. Nuckols has been the official spokesman for the U. N. command delegation almost from the start of the Korean armistice negotiations more than a year ago.

Nuckols is returning to Tokyo to resume his duties as chief public information officer for the Far East Air Forces.

Nebraska Corn Crop Outlook Is Just 'Wonderful' — So Far

"Considering the state as a whole, Nebraska's corn crop has never looked more attractive and promising," commented Dr. T. A. Kieselbach, retired veteran University of Nebraska agronomist.

It looks like the basis for a very productive crop—possibly never surpassed—provided favorable weather conditions continue, declared Dr. Kieselbach, frequently referred to as "Mr. Corn."

This month's moisture, so far almost double the normal monthly amount of 2.65 inches, together with high humidity and temperatures have all been very favorable to the crop, he pointed out.

"In spite of high temperatures in a large part of the real corn growing territory of the state, there was enough moisture to offset the heat," Dr. Kieselbach said. "At the time of the extremely high temperatures in June, the corn was not large enough to need a great amount of water, and was thus able to endure the unusually hot weather."

But, he cautioned, the crop is not as yet made. Farmers must wait for about four more weeks to ascertain whether or not they will have a crop this season.

Only a small percentage of the crop has silked and pollinated, he explained, and the crop is "not made" until after the roasting ear stage, three and a half weeks after silking and pollination.

Corn planted the middle of May can be expected to mature by September 20—a standard full season for hybrids. Normal tasseling and silking date is July 28, although that may be two days earlier this year, Dr. Kieselbach stated.

Rainfall has been adequate throughout most of the cornbelt, particularly south of the Platte River, according to A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician.

A few northeastern counties — Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Wayne, Thurston and Antelope—received only a light rainfall last week. In the central portion, Custer and Valley Counties, are somewhat short on moisture, as are Dundas, Hitchcock, Western Hayes and Northeastern Furnas counties.

To sum up the corn situation, both crop experts described the outlook as "wonderful."

Based on July 1 conditions, Nebraska's corn crop for this year was estimated at 254,680,000 bushels, the sixth largest crop in the last 86 years. The top production was in 1927 when the state had a 294,036,000 bushel crop. Last year Nebraska farmers produced 187,620,000 bushels of corn.

Peterson Offers Service
In GOP State Campaign

Gov. Val Peterson suggested to Nebraska Republicans Monday that "while conventions are attention calling, in Nebraska our most important job is to hold what we have."

He said that while "obviously I am interested in the election of Eisenhower, we must build from the bottom up." He said he personally had offered his services in the campaign to Chairman Dave Martin and to candidates for governor and United States senator.

The governor said he was willing to "carry water" or any other job given him.

Guns Sear Old Baldy

... Sixth Day Of Battle

SEOUL, Korea (Tuesday, AP)—Artillery thundered atop Old Baldy today in the sixth consecutive day of battle for the pivotal barren hill on the Western Korean front, turned into a no-man's-land by near-record shelling.

"A curtain of fire" from big American guns swept Chinese troops off the crest Monday, the U. S. Eighth Army reported. A briefing officer said an estimated 1,039 Communist casualties were inflicted in the first five days of fighting.

Although they did not occupy the hilltop, Allied troops reported no Chinese were in sight.

Harriet N. Burke
Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet Nestor Burke, 74, 1526 K, who died Monday, will be at St. Mary's Cathedral at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Rev. C. Maramba officiating.

Rosary will be said at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at Hodgman-Splain Chapel.

Mrs. Burke died from injuries received in an accident at her home July 13, when she fell through a second story porch railing.

Mrs. Burke was the widow of John M. Burke, well-known Lincoln clothing salesman, who died 19 years ago.

She was born in Johnson County, near Tecumseh, the youngest of six children. A member of the Catholic Church, she was active for many years in church work and music activities.

She was an accomplished horsewoman and trained many fancy driving horses.

Coming to Lincoln in 1910, she was married to John Burke six years later.

Surviving are a brother, Phillip J. Nestor Sr. of Tecumseh; a brother-in-law, Richard J. Burke, and a sister-in-law, Miss Margaret Burke, both of Lincoln.

Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

Mac Backers May Seek Third Party

A "Draft Mac Arthur" group Monday inquired of the secretary of state's office about the procedure for placing a third party candidate for President on the Nebraska ballot in November.

The inquiry came from Lar Daly of Chicago.

Daly was informed 750 persons must attend a meeting and sign the articles in order to set up a third party in the state.

The meeting must be held at least 50 days before the November election.

Nebraska has only two qualified political parties now—the Democrats and the Republicans.

Stationery on which the letter was written had been printed as a "Draft MacArthur and McCarthy" group but the name of McCarthy was crossed out.

Iran Has New Riots

Nationalists Start Again
After Ghavam Resigns

TEHERAN (INS)—Nationalist rioting which has taken a reported toll of 300 to 500 lives throughout Iran hit Teheran Monday, died down and then was fanned anew Monday night by the resignation of Premier A h m e d Ghavam.

Nationalist demonstrators, who throughout the day demanded that Ghavam quit, began new disorders after he had done so. A mob of 3,000 threatened to burn down his house and police opened fire to disperse the would-be arsonists. Three persons were reported killed, bringing the death toll in the capital alone to at least 18 for the day.

At least 15 persons were killed, scores wounded and more than 200 arrested in daylong clashes between troops and rioters who demanded that Ghavam quit because of his indicated policy of seeking settlement of the nationalization dispute with Britain.

Former Premier Mossadegh's supporters said an attempt would be made to have him returned to the premiership.

Truman Back
At His Desk

... He Remains Mum

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman kept a tight silence on his strategy for the Democratic national convention Monday as he returned to his desk at the White House after a four-day hospital chaper.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said Truman was "feeling fine" and looking "chipper."

With an eye on television broadcasts of the Chicago convention, the chief executive cleared away the last of scores of bills passed by the Senate and House in the final days of the 82nd Congress.

White House records showed the President signed a total of 339 public bills and 612 private measures for the last session. He vetoed nine bills.

The other ordinance, local business at 2942 No. Cotner, was indefinitely postponed at the request of property owners involved.

The following ordinances were introduced on first reading:
Plat of Steel's subdivision running from J to L on 30th.
Plat of Block 3, Fie's Berline Heights running along the south side of C. 40th to 42nd.

NU Summer
Theatre Play
Top Drawer

"Out of the Frying Pan," a sparkling University Summer Theatre comedy, was enthusiastically received at the Student Union Monday night by approximately 100 persons.

From start to finish the play, an arena-style production, set a pace through almost every minute.

The play centered around six would-be-actors—three men and three women—sharing an apartment while they are single, except for a secretly married couple.

Dottie Coburn, who is not too bright but has a source for the rent in her father, contributes most of the financial support.

Living below them in another apartment is a theater producer, upon whom they depend for an audition and their "break." The plot thickens when Dottie's friend, Murial, stops by and threatens to tell Dottie's father she is living with three single men. Then Dottie's father arrives to make matters worse.

The whole cast excelled, but two minor characters came close to stealing the show—Malinda Root as Mrs. Garnet, the landlady, and Jim Tomasek as Mr. Kenny, the producer. Betty Kaufman, as Dottie also stood out.

Better Sewage Disposal Law To Be Sought

The Izaak Walton League, State Department of Health, American Water Works Association and the League of Nebraska Municipalities have organized efforts to improve sewage disposal in Nebraska.

Seven Nebraskans representing these organizations have been named to draw up an anti-pollution bill which—if approved by the individual organizations—will be presented to the Legislature.

A draft of the anti-pollution bill will be presented at a joint meeting of the four organizations for their approval, Aug. 3 at the Cornhusker hotel.

Members of the committee who will draft the bill are:

John W. Kramer, Lincoln, representing the American Water Works Association.
State Sen. C. C. Lillibridge of Cretz, representing the Izaak Walton League.

David R. Hill of Hastings, president of the Nebraska Sewage and Industrial Waste Association and a representative of the utilities section of the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Dr. Henry C. Zellers of Lincoln, representing the League of Nebraska Municipalities.
Dr. T. A. Filpi, director of the division of sanitation, State Department of Health.

Federal Aid Hike Won't Benefit Nebraska Recipients

New Law Will Help Taxpayers

By ARCH DONOVAN
(Star Staff Writer)

Increase in the ceiling of assistance grants provided in a bill passed by Congress and signed last week by President Truman will not benefit recipients in Nebraska due to the Legislature having previously increased grants above the federal ceiling, Mrs. Harold Prince, chairman of the Board of Control, said.

However, taxpayers of the state will benefit by about one-half of the increase which is now being paid out of state funds. The complicated formulas by which the federal law provides the basis for matching of state funds made it impossible for employees of the assistance division to immediately estimate the saving in state funds.

Matching Plan

John Weststrand, statistician for the department, said that about 1,000 old age recipients are being paid on a need basis in excess of the present $50 federal ceiling. The state ceiling is $55. Under the matching plan this would relieve the state of paying half of the amount over $50 which they now pay 100 per cent. This, he said, would amount to less than $2,500 which the state would save.

On aid to dependent children the savings to the state may be more because of the formula used for different sized families. The state raised the ceiling up to the new federal ceiling of $55 in the 1949 session of the Legislature.

The new federal law will in no way help the biggest problem faced by the assistance department, that of constantly rising costs of medical services, Mrs. Prince explained. However, she said, the amount of state money saved through getting more federal aid would relieve the burden which has been causing so much concern to those administering the program.

Omaha Polio Wards Filled

OMAHA (P)—A surge of polio patients over the week-end filled Omaha's two polio wards to capacity Monday but the treatment centers were squeezing out room for more patients.

Of 27 patients admitted to County Hospital this season, 24 still were under treatment Monday, but the hospital was ready to make room for at least one and possibly two more patients.

Children's Hospital had its isolation ward filled to capacity with admission of seven new cases, but the hospital planned to make more room by shifts of other patients to the convalescent ward.

Total of 64
New admissions at Children's Hospital included James Bliss 8, Oakdale, Neb.; Aileen Kramer, 8, Arthur, Neb.; Jane Dokulski, 3½, Wahoo; and Jerry McGinnis, 4, Oxford, Neb.

New patients at County Hospital included Elliott Spickler, 42, Blair, Neb.

The new admissions raised Children's Hospital's 1952 polio total to 64, with 51 of them, plus six from other years, still under treatment.

The Hattie B. Monroe Home for convalescing children has taken several convalescing children and is ready to take more needed. Meanwhile the drive for volunteer workers is lagging, Mrs. Noel Wallace said the need is desperate.

Soviet Conquers From Within, Manion Warns Legionnaires

Use Of Americans Is Threat, He Says

Meeting of new Executive Committee

Although Americans worry about Russian military strength, threat of Russian conquests have come through use of native Communists in satellite countries, Clarence Manion told the state American Legion convention Monday.

Manion, who has been associated with Notre Dame for 25 years, recently resigned as dean of the college of law to do some writing and lecturing. He plans to do some work with the Americanization committee.

"Russia intends to take America with Americans—and that is the threat," Manion told the Legionnaires.

Americanization Urged

The solution, he said, is to carry out an "Americanization of the American people, which unfortunately is needed." He urged heeding the words of Whittaker Chambers, an admitted ex-Communist. He quoted Chambers' conclusions about Communism:

1. Religion and freedom are inseparable.

2. Communism is what happens when the mind of man divorces itself from God.

3. The power of Communism is to hold a conviction about the nature of a human being. (Communists believe, Manion said, that man is "a mule, a mass, an animal.")

Manion urged the Legionnaires to investigate the Universities and ask the professors what they think about the truths in the declaration of Independence and the Constitution. He said that these two documents are the basis of truth in America.

America should "indoctrinate the big truth," he said. It is wrong to propagate error and right to propagate truth, he said. Manion praised the Nebraska Americanization program and said it should be spread "throughout the 48 states."

In morning sessions, the Legionnaires heard reports on veterans work by Ashley Westmoreland, manager of the Veterans Administration in Lincoln; Dr. Harry A. Scott, manager of the Veterans Hospital at Lincoln; Dr. John J. Tyson, manager of the Veterans Hospital at Omaha; and Philip A. Fordyce, information service representative of the Veterans Administration at St. Paul, Minn.

Reports of committees were given by Chairman Preston Polsky, Lincoln, credentials; Warren C. Wood, Gering, rules and procedure, and John Keriakides, Hay Springs, constitution and by-laws.

The annual Legion golf tournament was held at Hillcrest Country Club during the afternoon, as was the annual downtown parade.

At night, a barbecue and entertainment program was held at Capitol Beach.

Union Airport Lease, Two Others Signed

The City Council has signed a lease for the operation of Union Airport as a Municipal Airport as of July 1.

The lease gives the city rights at Union for a period of two years, beginning July 1, at a monthly rate of $600. Also provided is an annual renewal option up to a maximum of eight years at a monthly rental of $750.

Also signed was a lease with Flight Lines, Inc., for the rental of 17 T-hangers and flight facilities at Union for a monthly charge of $300.

A third lease was signed with the Lincoln Aviation Institute for use of flight facilities and 19 T-hangers with a monthly charge of $300.

With approval of the leases, a contract is expected to be awarded for runway and other improvements at Union. The Able Construction Company has submitted the low bid of $71,009 for the work at Union.

19 Europeans Study State's Crop Program

Nineteen trainees from western Europe started a four week Seed Improvement Short Course at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture Monday.

The men, who represent seven European countries, will get a complete look at, and will thoroughly study Nebraska's methods of promoting crop improvement.

The group is guided by Rex Warren, crop improvement worker from Oregon. Dr. Chase Allred, agronomist at the College of Agriculture, is in charge of the short course.

The class is composed of university professors, state department of agriculture workers, extension workers, crop improvement workers, and farmers from Austria, Belgium, France, Greece, Italy, The Netherlands and the United Kingdom.

While in the Cornhusker state, they will learn the organization of the agricultural research, teaching and extension in Nebraska, the geography, geology, and climate of Nebraska, the use of Nebraska soils, learn about special purpose crops, weed control, state weed laws, and much about the cultural practices of individual crops.

In addition, field trips will be taken to the University farms, to seed companies, and many individual farmers.

One highlight of the course for Europeans will be a nine-day tour of the state. Stops will be made near Genoa, Norfolk, Pierce, O'Neill, Neligh, Bassett, Merriman, Gordon, Alliance, Scottsbluff, North Platte, and Ogallala.

Council Lowers Housing Authority '53 Payments

The City Council has approved a cut in Housing Authority payments to the city for the coming fiscal year from $25,000 to $10,000.

The reduction had been requested by the Authority on the grounds that its Huskerville operation was being cut down while expenses on the structures were going up.

The Council also authorized the sale of a gasoline powered locomotive now in use at the Municipal Airport. The engine, purchased five years ago for $6,500, to serve Airport warehouse tenants, will be sold to the highest bidder in 90 days.

Permission To Park Cars On Sidewalk Asked

Attorney L. R. Doyle has again filed application for permission to DuTeau Chevrolet Company to park cars on the sidewalk along the east side of 18th north of O.

The application was sent from Police Chief Joseph Carroll to the Council. The Council has previously denied the DuTeau request.

New Auditorium Architects Pact Okayed By Council

The City Council has approved terms of a new contract with the Associated Auditorium Architects for the preparation of plans and specifications for a fee of 5 per cent of the total cost of construction of the proposed new auditorium.

The formal contract will be drafted during the week for final Council action next Monday. Also to be provided in the agreement is supervisory work by the Architects for the first six months of construction on the new auditorium.

To be deducted from the total fees charged will be nearly $35,000 already paid the Architects under terms of the old contract for preparation of plans and specifications for the auditorium as originally planned.

The specifications, said Councilman Clark Jeary, will be completely up to date and flexible where at all possible so as to allow the most competitive bidding possible.

Terms for the new contract were worked out by Jeary and City Engineer D. L. Erickson, working with the architects.

City Appointment Of New Attorney Aid Awaits Action

Appointment of a successor for Assistant City Attorney Jack Devoe, who resigned Monday, will wait for at least another week.

Mayor Victor E. Anderson said a formal resolution accepting Devoe's resignation would be acted upon by the City Council next Monday. If City Attorney C. Russell Mattson has a recommendation for a successor at that time, said the mayor, that will also be considered next week.

Mattson stated he has had two informal applications for the job. He has not made up his mind in the matter yet, he said.

Temporary Arrangement

If a successor is named at this time, it is likely to be a temporary arrangement. The Council plans some reorganization of the city's legal department when the 1952-53 fiscal year budget is prepared.

Devoe asked to be relieved of his duties by Aug. 15 in order to devote more time to his private practice. In his written resignation to the Council, the city prosecutor stated, "The processing of Municipal Court cases filed under our city ordinances has been greatly improved during the last decade."

"Our municipal Court has received a citation from the National Safety Congress as the finest traffic court in the country. This is due to the efforts and co-operation of the personnel of the Police Department, the Municipal Court, the press and an understanding public."

Water Study Contract Draft To Be Readied

With some objection from Councilman Pat Ash, the City Council approved drafting of a contract for the hiring of Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo., to prepare preliminary studies of Lincoln's water supply needs at a cost of $7,500.

Ash's objection was based on the opinion that local engineering firms should be given the first chance to do the work if they wanted it.

Between now and the time the contract is ready for signing next Monday, local firms are to be contacted to see if they are interested in the work.

During the discussion City Engineer D. L. Erickson pointed out that he doubted if the city could do the work that cheap itself and that the time for it was not available.

Mayor Victor E. Anderson added the thought that it would not be good judgment to disregard the recommendations of the city's Water Advisory Board after the Council just organized the group and ask for their assistance.

The proposed contract will be so drawn as to permit the city to hire any one they want for additional work beyond the preliminary study.

An Appeal To Silly Boys

By J. E. LAWRENCE

CHICAGO—This observer hopes to call both national conventions exactly as he sees them. He did not expect that an opinion expressed in this column ten days ago—in advance of the nomination of Gen. Eisenhower and the defeat of Sen. Bob Taft—would have spectacular confirmation so quickly.

We said here a week ago last Thursday in advance of the Republican balloting that the greatest challenge facing the winner—either Eisenhower or Taft—would be the job of conciliating embittered factions of the party. There was the implication Eisenhower would be the better man for this task. Then while the Democrats were pouring into Chicago in advance of their convention, John Knight, of the Chicago Daily News, an independent newspaper leaning towards the Republicans, published a remarkable appeal to Republicans. He called attention to it in a box on the front page of his newspaper and used three columns on his editorial page urging the Taft "irreconcilables" to get behind Eisenhower.

Some readers felt we had dealt unfairly with Gen. Eisenhower by republishing blistering editorials which appeared in Col. McCormick's Chicago Tribune. Now read Mr. Knight's appeal in the Chicago Daily News, which appeared under the heading: "Pouting Over Taft's Defeat Won't Serve Nation's Welfare."

In part, Mr. Knight said this: "This is an appeal to reason. From the day Gen. Eisenhower was nominated disappointed supporters of Taft have been acting like little boys who quit the team because they can't pitch. I am sorry to say that had Taft won, embittered Eisenhower followers would have behaved quite as badly . . . Since Eisenhower and Nixon were nominated on July 11, I have received hundreds of letters from bellicose Taft Republicans saying they will never support the Republican ticket. The vast majority of these communications come from the Chicago area where the slurs and propaganda against Eisenhower have been disgracefully venomous from the day the general indicated his availability for the presidency. I can understand the angry mood of those sincere citizens ardently dedicated to Taft. More difficult to comprehend are their violent denunciations of Gen. Eisenhower and statements that they will neither support the Republican candidate nor vote this fall."

We are here to report a Democratic convention which follows closely on the heels of the GOP. Rarely have the Democrats been greeted by a press, the country over, printing appeals of varying character relating to the bitterness which can develop out of convention struggles. That accounts for the care with which a traditionally warring party is attempting to walk. Perhaps both parties are misreading the stars in the skies. The split in Democratic ranks is no less sharply marked than among the Republicans. But the issues are different.

With the Republicans it is foreign policy, feeding into domestic issues. Eisenhower and Taft camps are farther apart than the poles on foreign policy—not of one mind but not too seriously divided on domestic matters, with Eisenhower if anything a little to the right of Taft. The Democrats are united on foreign policy—hopelessly divided on domestic issues. The Texas delegation contest illustrated that.

In this atmosphere there is confusion and cross purposes, although we doubt the division is as serious as the one within Republican ranks. Could be that four years hence new parties will arise.

Generous Gift To Children

In a little more than a month, a Lincoln landmark, the old Wheeler home fronting the Nebraska Capitol on the south, will enter into a new era of usefulness.

As a result of a gift to the Lincoln-Lancaster County Child Guidance Center by Mrs. Margaret Wheeler Casady, this house which has stood since 1885, and which for years was the home of a distinguished Nebraska pioneer family, becomes the property of the organization. In accepting the gift, Dr. D. Stewart MacDonald, director of the Center, expressed deep satisfaction with the new quarters.

"We feel fortunate," Dr. MacDonald said, "to be able to work with the children in the atmosphere of a home and still be within a block of most of the city's transportation. In Lincoln, as in every community, many children sorely need help in growing up. Many parents hesitate to obtain this help through a sort of false pride. We hope that the atmosphere of the Wheeler home will make it easier for some parents to seek the services of the Child Guidance Center."

Incidentally, that organization has been making rapid strides at a time when most needed. Working as it does frequently in conjunction with the juvenile court, through funds provided by the Woods Charitable Foundation, it should be able to expand its activities most gratifyingly. Necessary changes in furnishings and the interior are made possible through an additional gift of $3,000 by Mrs. Casady.

The Risk Of War

A remarkable document was found on the person of owl Jacques Duclos, acting head of the Communist party in France, when he was arrested in Paris during the recent riots against Gen. Ridgway.

A confidential notebook in his pocket indicated two important facts: (1) The Soviet Union appears to be fearful of risking World War III and (2) the French Communist party is being ruled from Moscow by Maurice Thorez, who has been in Moscow for many months ostensibly recovering from a paralytic stroke.

If the notebook is authentic—and authorities who have gone through its pages agree that it is—the Western Powers have obtained some extremely valuable intelligence. Thorez, unquestionably in close contact with the Soviet rulers in the Kremlin, passes on information to Duclos to guide the French Communists in their course of action. In other words, those Communists in France who unflinchingly follow the party line have additional evidence, if any was needed, that they are serving not the ends of their countrymen but the policies of foreign rulers who are infinitely more interested in their own pattern for conquest.

That Soviet Russia fears the consequences of launching a new war is evident in a statement by Thorez, quoted by Duclos in the notebook, that a "third world war would terminate in our victory, but it would involve immense sacrifices. The way of peace is therefore the way to attain socialism." The profession of belief in ultimate victory can be written off as customary Communist language which is made up, in large measure, of bluff. The confession of worry concerning the "immense sacrifices" a war would entail is more significant, since the likelihood of a conflict breaking out hinges partially on the willingness of the Russian rulers to take the gigantic risk.

Also revealed in the notebook is that the French Communist party is doing everything possible to bring about the defeat of the French army in Indo-China, Korea and Tunisia. The Reds are encountering difficulties in getting French workers to engage in political strikes, according to the notebook, and they are exasperated over the failure of their propaganda, particularly on their lavish crusade against alleged germ warfare in Korea.

Stripped to the core, the French Communist party is revealed as a machine guided in the interest of the Soviet Union. The loss of this secret document by Duclos can hardly be expected to prolong his political dominance in the inner circle of French Communism.

Dry Bones Of Yore

The 500,000-year-old fossilized remains of the "Peking Man," once exhibited in a Chinese building, are on the missing list in the Pacific and the owners don't know where to find them. Now a reward of $1,000 has been posted by an American archeologist, Dr. J. J. Markey of Oceanside, Calif., who would like to obtain information as to the whereabouts of the ancient and famous bones.

The Peking Man was lost in the shuffle when American and Chinese forces moved from Peking, China, when the Japanese army approached in December, 1941. For some time it was thought that the Japanese captured the bones and that Japanese scientists had hidden them somewhere. Dr. Markey doubts this theory, voices the belief that the bones are being moved from one port to another in the Pacific.

The archeologist also pointed out that the remains of the Peking Man, oldest known human being, dug out of the limestone cliffs at Choukoutien, are those of a woman. The Peking Man, apparently mis-labeled, nevertheless is the subject of an intensive search to bring "him" back to a museum, where "he" belongs.

Bosses Have Reason For Hating Kefauver

CHICAGO—You don't have to go any farther than Chicago's 24th Ward, sometimes called the West Side "Terror Ward," to understand some of the paradoxes and problems of the Democratic party.

Democratic committeeman for the 24th Ward is one Arthur X. Elrod, who is also commissioner for Cook County, over which the grimy, unkempt city of Chicago spreads in man-made disarray.

Commissioner Elrod is a congenial, likable politician who is sometimes known in Chicago as the friend of hoodlums. Since the 24th Ward is that where the hoodlums flourish, it is obvious that they have to have friends somewhere. But he is also known in Chicago as the friend of some of the biggest Democrats in Washington, and when Vice President Barkley comes to Chicago for a Jackson Day dinner, Artie Elrod is perennially on the reception committee to welcome him. He also has pictures of himself with President Truman and Barkley to prove his friendship.

This is where the paradoxes and problems of the Democratic party come in. In Chicago, part of the support for the Democrats comes from Artie Elrod. His support in turn comes from the hoodlums. He has been so successful politically and otherwise, that in a few short years he has parlayed his income up to $50,000 a year, though his visible means of support is chiefly from the modest salary paid him by Cook County.

Commissioner Elrod's reputation was such that during the Kefauver Crime Committee probe he was cross-examined by Kefauver agents. Now as a member of the Illinois delegation naturally he is pulling every possible wire among Democratic leaders to block the nomination of the man who investigated him.

Commissioner Elrod is not unlike some other Democratic stalwarts from the crime-ridden sections of Kansas City, New York and Miami. They have no more in common with the Democratic leaders of the agricultural South than Estes Kefauver has with Artie Elrod. They disagree on everything from civil rights to oleomargarine to the St. Lawrence Seaway—everything except the Democratic label.

Their situation is not unlike that which confronted the Republicans in Chicago two years ago, when the Old Guard leaders of the Taft wing of the GOP had local control of the convention. The corruption issue was not involved. But they held sway over the passes, the tickets, the ushers and the convention machinery. However, the Eisenhower-Beweyites in the end took over.

In Chicago today, it's the big-city wing of the Democratic party with its Commissioner Elrods and others which controls the local mechanics of the convention. And though Sen. Kefauver swept the Illinois primary, the Elrods and others who were probed by

Kefauver will stop at nothing to block him.

To get a closer look at this paradoxical picture, here is a cross-section of the use contributed to Artie Elrod's political campaign in 1950 to elect him commissioner of Cook County:

"Sugar Joe" Peskin, juke-box dealer and former gang member, $250; Harold Weinstein, Calumet scrap-iron dealer, $500; George Lurie, attorney for gamblers, $200; David Kockola, juke-box dealer, $100; Lon Kaven, bookie, $100; Dave "Dingie" Halpern, bookie, $200; Charles Baron, bookie, $200; Gibby Kaplan, whose Gibby's Cafe is a hangout for hoods, $250; Hi Ginniss, who runs the Tradewinds Cafe, frequented by hoods, $100; John Mack, financial adviser for hoods, $250.

Back in 1940, just before Elrod began working for the city of Chicago, he got a salary of $7,840 a year on which he paid an income tax of $206.42. Today his official salary—$7,500—is just about what it was ten years ago but his income is now $50,000.

No wonder the City Council of Chicago has just voted 40 to 7 not to send out the "mink coat" questionnaires which were sent to all policemen in New York and Washington, D.C., and which incidentally the new attorney general James McGranery has refused to send to government officials in Washington.

When Kefauver investigators questioned Commissioner Elrod on how he was able to make so much money despite his modest official salary, his answer, according to their official report, was as follows:

Elrod states that his miscellaneous income picked up appreciably when Jake Arvey went into the Army, because he then took over some of the influence that Arvey had previously had. He says he doesn't know what, if anything, Arvey received in exchange for favors.

Arvey, of course, is the efficient and influential Democratic boss of Chicago, who has worked overtime at getting Gov. Adlai Stevenson into the race in an obvious effort to block Kefauver.

The Kefauver report also contains an interesting sidelight on how Commissioner Elrod used his own political campaign funds for stock speculation.

Elrod admits borrowing about $12,000 from his campaign about in order to buy stock and then putting the $12,000 back after he sold the stock, the report states. "He hoped to make a short gain but he lost on the stock. He felt that it was okay to use these campaign funds in this manner because the money came from people for whom he had done favors."

It is just one cross section of how politics and corruption are intermingled in Chicago and why there is such bitter opposition to any candidate who might clean it out.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Huge Sums Are Spent By Powerful Interests

CHICAGO—With the costly trapping of one big political circus replaced by that of another, it may occur even to the most glib creature to wonder who pays for the show. The answer, of course, is that in the last analysis it is the citizen who foots the bill.

Along with everything else, the cost of politics has been going up. And it is not just inflation that has pushed the spending sky high. As more and more power is concentrated in government, it becomes ever more vital to contesting pressure groups to exert all possible influence on the seat of power which is the federal government in Washington. So the money is poured in with the expectation that special consideration will come out.

Just how much was spent on the lengthy pre-convention campaign waged by Sen. Robert A. Taft will never be known. But in all probability it was the most expensive campaign of its kind in American political history. An ambitious political scientist would do well to try to compute what was spent in just one state, South Dakota, which went for Taft by a hair's breadth margin.

The spending of the Eisenhower forces could not have been far behind. Particularly in the last few days, money was poured out prodigally with a flood of full-page newspaper advertisements across the country. And it must be remembered that political spending inasmuch as what can be visibly computed represents only a small part of what is actually put out.

Backing the candidacy of Gen. Douglas MacArthur during the GOP convention was the Texas oil billionaire, H. L. Hunt. One of the drearier aspects of the Republican show was the MacArthur "demonstration" which had all the fine spontaneity of the drill team of the Sons of I Will Arise Lodge in Rapahoon, Alabama.

Where and how the "demonstrators" had been dredged up was anyone's guess. During the MacArthur demonstration, one of the Wisconsin delegates had his pockets picked with professional skill. The demonstration went on even though the enthusiasm of the delegates was barely visible.

The spending of the Democratic candidates has not been on quite such a lavish scale. There are, however, plenty of evidences of it, notably that two-thirds life size replica of the Oklahoma log cabin in which he was born that Sen. Robert Kerr has used as a news-

Garden Glances With The Moon

Lead is the summer's heavy nose. The smallest breeze can find a tongue. While insects of each kind size grow teasing with their melodies. Till moon burns with its blistering breath. Around, and day lies still as death.

—John Clare (1793-1864)

A new moon last night and so begins another first lunar quarter with the young and increasing moon in the fixed, fiery and barren sign, Leo.

Thursday morning at 8:23 it will enter the earthy and dry sign, Virgo; then Saturday night near 9:00, this brand new moon will enter the movable, airy and fruitful sign, Libra.

Mrs. Swingle

It wasn't too hot motoring over to Shenandoah Saturday for the annual meeting and show of District One, National Hemerocallis Society, which includes Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, etc.

I haven't a photograph for you today because I shot color in a 35 mm. camera. The test plot being radiant with color, I think I got some excellent shots. I shall give you a word picture of several that caught our eyes and seemed particularly pleasing to the four of us, Mrs. Joseph Wis-art, Mrs. George P. Henson and Mrs. Elmer H. Schrier. If the names and descriptions should strike your fancy, you can look them up in Colin's catalogue and check for height and blooming period here in Lincoln. With just a little thought and planning, it is quite simple to arrange hemerocallis (day lilies) groupings in one's garden that will give joyous bloom every summer from June to autumn frost. The colors have come a long way from the "corn lilies" of intense orange in our grandmothers' gardens. Those old varieties were h. fulva and h. flava and are in one way or another ancestors of all the modern hems.

Isle de France (Russell), a pastel bi-color of rosy-lavender and pale yellow; with it plant Fiquante (Nesmith), which is an unusual rose with a yellow cup in the throat. At a distance the blooms seem raspberry in color. Ruby Supreme (Wheeler), a luminous ruby red, as its name implies, with a green throat and with it, Halo. Then Amulet and Afterglow. Rose Gem and Caballero, a beautiful, tall bi-color with fragrance. Moon Ray and Circe. Porcelain Pink and Seminole Chief, which I prefer to Honeysuckle Red. To Hyperion and Hesperus, which many of you now grow, you might add Bountiful or Limelight or Revolute. Revolute, Mrs. Edgar Irving, president of Nebraska Federated Garden Clubs, tells me, is her favorite hem. It is a handsome light yellow. The new introductions and seedlings from Maple Road Gardens were outstanding, as usual. Henry Sass is a genius with hems (also iris), as were his father and uncle before him. Midwest Majesty reminded me of Midwest Star named at our meeting in 1947. Among the seedlings, No. 50-445 with its green throat suggested the name, "Green Goddess."

Another chamer was Howdy, a small red and yellow bi-color. Four of them would have come to Lincoln had they have been purchasable that day. But let me tell you about Peaches—and this we purchased right from its introducer, Mrs. Ed Tiemann of Westboro, Mo. Mrs. Tiemann planted seed purchased from Mrs. Bright Fiquante (Nesmith), which is an unusual rose with a yellow cup in the throat. At a distance the blooms seem raspberry in color. ## A Story Of Bryan

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: First I want to congratulate the editor on his fine coverage of the Republican National Convention. The Star's daily editorials and comments afford Dr. Lehnhoff and me much pleasure and enlightenment. Whatever the editor's mood, be it philosophical, reminiscent, or hard facts, it makes excellent reading.

The Republican Convention hall's proximity to the Chicago stockyards brought to mind this incident which happened during the days of W. J. Bryan's campaigning:

In the heyday of his political campaigning, William J. Bryan was scheduled to make a speech at Tecumseh, Neb. The town was one of those beautiful warm fall exhibitions which is surpassed in few states. The committee had arranged to have Mr. Bryan speak outdoors in the public square and asked the local implement dealer to have pushed down in a good location a new farm wagon on which were to be placed a number of chairs that would serve for a stage for Mr. Bryan and the committee on arrangements.

At 7 p.m. the committee with their guest moved down to the public square. But instead of a new farm wagon's being there for their use, there was an old manure spreader. The committee, somewhat embarrassed, began to explain how it all happened and told their guest they would have the spread removed at once. Mr. Bryan said no, everything was all right and to leave the spreader where it was. So the stairsteps were adjusted and Mr. Bryan and his party took their places. A general smile and an audible giggle demonstrated the merriment of the audience. After the usual party introduction, Mr. Bryan began—

"I have spoken in Tecumseh on a number of occasions. On one, the talk was made in one of your large halls. On another, I spoke from the bandstand in your city park. But on no occasion have I ever come to your little city and been asked to address you on a Republican Platform!"

Ike's Bill

Grafton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I just read on the front page of The Star that Ike and Mamie said good-bye to their son "with a tear in their eyes" as he was off to the Korean War.

I wonder what a front-page writup like that costs in The Star, which is supposed to be the only Democratic paper we have in Nebraska. No wonder the state is Republican.

Man's Best Friend

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As a longtime lover and admirer of man's best friend, I would like to compliment Norris Anderson for the remarkable column in last Friday's Star called "Did You Know Your Dog Could Talk?" This was a really great study of dogs. Let's see more articles of this kind by Mr. Anderson.

MRS. J. E. FOSTER

Both Will Survive

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Col. McCormick, after reviewing the development of political parties in the U. S., takes a very gloomy view of the future of the Republican party.

He said, in part, "In 1912 the Republican machine was thoroughly under the control of the corruptionists led by Sen. Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and Sen. Penrose of Pennsylvania." And further, "In the last three presidential elections, the Republican machine has put up candidates for the benefit of its financial backers, thinking that the rank and file having no place else to go, would vote for them, but each time it found that the betrayed electorate would not vote for candidates hand-picked by corruption."

Contrast his view with that of young Sen. Lodge who said, "This country wants a strong, active Republican party and it wants a strong, active Democratic party. It will have both."

It would seem that, from the bitter charges made in the proceedings of the GOP National Convention recently—especially as to the attempt to steal delegations from the southern states, corruption is still rife in that party. However, both parties will

The Picket Line

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The average non-professional American works eight hours a day at a starvation wage of 75 cents an hour or $6 a day, out of which he must meet the prevailing high cost of living. It is on these men the burden falls, for they have no recourse to any organization such as unions or what-have-you. I note that most of the men parading with placards about their necks are young, able-bodied men. They never experienced the breadline days of the Hoover administration. These men are dissatisfied with an average wage of nearly $20 a day plus time-and-a-half on week ends and holidays. They cry "More! More!" to meet the high cost of living for which they themselves are responsible, and for which the white collar man must pay in sweat and blood. It is high time union dictatorship be nullified, and wage and living costs be evenly balanced. This most vital and all important problem was sidetracked at the recent Chicago Convention, and the common people continue to wonder what the next President is going to do about it.

Democracy, we boast the name. Now stigmatized, smeared with shame. By those on the picket line. Clamoring for that extra dime.

Party Line-Ups

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Democratic party enters the 1952 campaign with advantages so strong that little interest is manifested by Republicans thus far toward the coming election. American history presents one analogy to the present situation. At one time the Republicans were in office nationally for 24 years, 1861 to 1885. In the last half of that time there were charges of inefficiency. In electoral votes the Democrats start with 128 votes from the solid South, plus 26 from nearby states for a total of 154 votes. To get such votes, Democrats need hold a very few northern states. Presidential elections since 1928 have consistently been going Democratic. Voters under 30 years of age were found, in surveys, to favor the Democrats by a margin of 17 per cent. Look at the party line-up in the past presidential elections.

Governor Reticent On Special Session Of Legislature

Action Will Await Next Road Meet

By ARCH DONOVAN
(Star Staff Writer)

Gov. Val Peterson agrees with the committee studying highway needs that an emergency exists of sufficient magnitude to warrant calling a special session of the Legislature.

However, the governor continued that he would be "reticent to call a special session unless there is general demand and agreement on what is to be done."

The governor said that he will reserve any action in the matter until the committee, which met at Fremont and named by Nebraska editors, has reported back to the "parent body" which is tentatively planned for Aug. 8 at Grand Island.

The governor explained that the reason for needing a special session is the amount of "paper work" which the highway department would have to do in order to obtain federal aid. This could be done during the winter months, he said, so that construction could be put under way next year.

Continuing loss of personnel in the department, he explained, means that those remaining would be kept busy on a program of the present size and they could do no advance planning without more help. He said the detail of planning to get federal aid is a time consuming job.

Unless there is some evidence that the Legislature and the people of the state are in agreement on an expanded program and a method of financing, the governor said there is no reason for a special session.

On inquiry as to when the special session would have to be held to get construction under way next spring, the governor said, "My guess is that it would have to meet not later than September."

Praises Western Area

Gov. Peterson went on to commend the residents of Sheridan County for their co-operation in making possible closing of a 24-mile gap on No. 27 highway between Gordon and Ellsworth. The contract probably will be awarded this week.

Donations by individuals and from county sources amount to about $100,000 for the project, he said. Actual construction not counting right-of-way, moving fences, etc., is $370,000.

The governor met recently with groups interested in the project at Chadron. An additional $17,500 was needed and residents agreed

Farmers Haul Water To Save Hadar Building

HADAR, Neb. (AP) — Firemen were handicapped by a water shortage Monday as fire destroyed a business building here, but water hauled in by farmers and from the pumps of throughout the village helped save a second building.

One farmer hauled water to town in a boat.

The fire destroyed the frame and brick building housing a pool hall and soft drink parlor operated by Marvin Baumeister. Baumeister, his wife and six children also had quarters in the building.

They lost all their personal belongings although some of the business furnishings were saved. The Hellmuth Mittlesteadt residence near the blazing building also caught fire, but thanks to the water provided by townspeople and farmers the flames there were extinguished.

There's Always A New Angle To The News

JUST ABOUT THE time you think you've heard everything you learn that something new has been added—Almost any newspaper office could tell you that rackets are not especially news, but this morning we learned of a new one—at least new to us—and it involves engagement announcements.

Earlier this summer we announced the engagement of a prominent young Lincoln woman to whom, for purposes of clarity, we shall refer to as Miss S. Miss S. is to marry Mr. W., Jr., whose family is equally prominent on the east coast. At the time the announcement was made Miss S's parents were at their summer home in Colorado, but her brother and sister-in-law still were in town. On the day they planned to leave for Colorado they received a telephone call from an elderly lady who stated that she was Mr. W's aunt—that she had been returning by bus from the east to her home at Laguna Beach, Cal., and somehow had lost her money. Naturally the young couple hurried down to pick up the alleged relative, showed her the town (even their church), took her home for coffee, offered to go with her to the bank and vouch for any check she might wish to write (she chose not to write checks), and finally emptied their pockets of all cash on hand.

At about the same time a young man called at the New York office of Mr. W's father—explained that he was from Lincoln, that he had worked at Hotel Cornhusker where everyday he had waited on Miss S's father. It seems that one day he told Mr. S of his plans to go to New York, and Mr. S immediately told him that if, and when he arrived in New York, he should need any help—including money, he should go to Mr. W. Mr. W. also said out cash.

Naturally Mr. and Mrs. S learned that Mr. W had no aunt in Laguna Beach, and Mr. W found out that Mr. S had not given his name to anyone who might need assistance. Now they are wondering if the racket is local or whether it might have a national scope—and how many "aunties" have taken how many potential in-laws for a financial ride. The elderly woman who worked in Lincoln said that she was going to stop off at North Platte where she had a "prospective" for property at Laguna Beach—Hope her "prospective" did a little checking before parting with too much cash.

SO MUCH for that angle in the news—Now we have news of Angles—Dr. and Mrs. Everett and their son and daughter-in-law, Captain and Mrs. John Angle, who returned home Monday evening from New York City where, on Saturday evening, they had attended the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Angle's son, Captain William D. Angle, to Dr. Carol Remmer.

THE MENTION of recent brides and bridegrooms reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Walt, Jr., made an overnight stop in Lincoln Monday en route to the Broadmoor hotel, Colorado Springs, where they will spend their honeymoon—As you probably remember, the marriage of Miss Jo Ann Ferguson and Mr. Walt was solemnized on last Friday evening.

THINK YOU MIGHT like to know, too, that after the wedding of Miss Ann Morris of Clarksburg, W. Va., and Burkett Von Kirk, Mr. Van Kirk will bring his bride to Lincoln to reside—In fact Mr. Van Kirk was in Lincoln from Monday until Thursday of last week, and has taken an apartment at 2440 A street. The wedding, incidentally, will take place in September.

WHILE NOT exactly lavish in activity the current week does have some interesting things to offer—For instance, we learned that later this week Mrs. Harold Davis and her two daughters, the Misses Shirley and Sherry Davis, will arrive from Grosse Point, Mich., for a brief stay as the house guests of Mrs. E. H. Polley. The trio of travelers is on its way to Denver where Miss Shirley Davis, who was graduated in June from William and Mary college, will attend the wedding of a classmate. Complimenting the visitors,

Mrs. Polley will be a Thursday morning hostess when she entertains informally at a coffee.

THEN WE learned that Mrs. Robert Stein also would be a coffee hostess on Thursday morning at her home when she entertains in courtesy to Mrs. Raymond Clifton L. Greer, Jr. of New York City. Mrs. Greer arrived the past week-end and is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken.

SPEAKING of courtesies and one thing and another reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lewandowski were a dinner host and hostess on Sunday evening when they entertained in honor of Fred Spencer who is back from Tucson, Ariz., for a few days stay in Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and their family, as perhaps you already know, plan to make their permanent home in Tucson.

HAVE SOME potential guests that also will be of interest to Lincoln people—Dr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Day, we hear, and their four children, Michael, Warren, Elizabeth and Becky, will be arriving from New England about August 1, to spend a few days as the house guests of Dr. Day's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Day. Dr. and Mrs. Day and their children are en route to Denver where Dr. Day, a pediatrician, will practice.

TWO YOUNG guests, Jimmy and Jane Bigger of Corning, Ia., left Sunday evening for Camp Lincoln, and Camp Lake Hubert, Minn., after spending a few days as the house guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Myron Loomis.

HEAR THAT Miss Mary Margaret Loomis, president of the active chapter of Delta Gamma—Miss Jane Calhoun, Miss Barbara Dillman and Miss Sue Brownlee of Omaha, are en route home from a post-Delta Gamma-convention trip that took them from White Sulphur Springs to Washington, D. C., New York City and here and there on the east coast—The most interesting chatter about the trip home is that the four coeds will land at the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago about Wednesday—right in the midst of the Democratic convention—We feel sure, however, knowing some of the political sentiments of the four young ladies, that they won't be coming home with any literature or buttons that pertain to any of the presidential aspirants who are in Chicago at the moment—In fact we were told that the members of this quartet of DG's plan to wear the largest "I Like Ike" buttons they can find during their stay in Chicago.

THIS IS the day, so someone told us, that Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball will be hostess to the members of her bridge club when she entertains at luncheon at the Lincoln Country club.

Engagement Announced

MISS RUTHANN LAVINE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lavine of York are this morning announcing the engagement of their daughter, Ruthann, to Leonard Bush, son of Mrs. Harry Bush of Omaha. No wedding date has been named. Miss Lavine will be a senior this year at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Sigma Delta Tau sorority, and of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority. Her fiancé was graduated from the University of Nebraska in June, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity. He leaves soon for Memphis, Tenn., where, as a lieutenant, he will be stationed with the air force.

Betrothal Announced

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Wiesner of Omaha, of the engagement of their daughter, Gwen, to Airman 3/C Robert Lawrence Duckworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Duckworth of Omaha. The announcement was made Saturday at a luncheon held at the Wiesner home. A former student at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., Miss Wiesner attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi. Mr. Duckworth is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he is a member of Kappa Sigma, and is stationed with the air force at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo.

Serving Dr. Sandritter as best man will be H. Fay Sandritter of Hastings, and seating the guests will be Dr. George J. Lytton and Vern Evans, both of Hastings.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. Benham and Dr. Sandritter will be honored at a pre-nuptial dinner to be held at the Hotel Cornhusker. Included among the out of town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McMunn of Norfolk, parents of the bride-elect; Mrs. G. F. Sandritter, mother of Dr. Sandritter, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Fay Sandritter, all of Hastings; and Dr. and Mrs. George J. In a very attractive smock, and trying hard to get "into the mood" to finish two oils is today's new Lincoln resident and an accomplished artist from Akron, O. The Larsons left their pleasant home in Westhill and his practice at the Akron clinic, for surgical work in Lincoln. Dr. Larson may be remembered at the University of Nebraska, as a former Phi Gamma Delta, and as a Phi Rho Sigma at the college of medicine in Omaha. Although Dr. Larson does his extracurricular reading for knowledge rather than pleasure, he enjoys baseball in any form. A young surgeon's hobby time is non-existent, but both Dr. Larson and his wife enjoy dining and an evening out when his patients permit.

A nurse by profession, Mrs. Larson has painted all her life as an avocation. Most of her work is done with bold colors, employing a great many of the browns and burnished tones. Perhaps this style was influenced by her expeditions to Florida and Cuba, both on

Iron Lungs Are Being Rushed To Omaha From West Coast

Sioux City Deaths Now Number 14

OMAHA (P)—Five iron lungs were being rushed here Monday night from Los Angeles to augment the supply now on hand to fight polio at two Omaha hospitals.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced that the lungs would arrive here by plane Tuesday morning. They are among lungs used last year on the polio fight on the West Coast, a spokesman said. They have since been reconditioned.

Childrens Memorial and Douglas County Hospitals, with the additional five iron lungs, now will have 31 on hand. As of Monday night, only three standby lungs were available.

Many Outstayers
Over the week end, iron lungs were rushed here from Lowell, Minn., and Sidney, Neb., the Foundation spokesman said. Meanwhile, a check of Omaha City-Douglas County Health Department records showed that one third of the 1952 polio patients treated in Omaha hospitals have come from outside Douglas county.

Frank Sanders, communicable diseases officer of the Department, said reports since Jan. 1 show 60 county residents as polio victims. The 1952 combined polio count at the two hospitals was 90 Monday.

And in the meantime, Sioux City, Ia., recorded its 14th death thus far in 1952 from polio as mass experimental inoculations got into full swing from the river Iowa children.

The latest Sioux City victim was 11-year-old David Anderson of Sioux City who entered the hospital Sunday. And Council Bluffs recorded its first polio fatality of the year with the death of 8-year-old Billy Paulson. The two deaths brought to 16 Iowa's 1952 polio total.

Hundreds of children accompanied by their parents crowded Sioux City clinics in the nation's third and final mass test to determine whether Gamma Globulin can curb the paralytic effects of polio.

The children, between the ages of one and 11, have a 50-50 chance to receive an injection of Gamma Globulin, a protein fragment of whole human blood that contains end.

Nurses Shown Polio Patient Methods At Lincoln Meeting

Approximately 100 nurses, representing 16 Southeastern Nebraska counties, met Monday at Lincoln General Hospital for the opening sessions in the two-day meeting of the Institute of Poliomyelitis Nursing sponsored by District 3 of the Nebraska State Nurses Association.

Objectives of the course are to provide trained instructors for polio anti-bodies. Half of the children are receiving the globulin injections and the other half a harmless gelatin substance employed for purposes of scientific comparison.

It is hoped to inoculate 16,500 children here before the test is completed.

Heaviest In U.S.
The Sioux City area currently is the site of the nation's heaviest polio attack. Sioux City hospitals have treated 222 for the disease, and 133 polio patients remained in the hospitals as the tests got under way.

There also were 25 patients hospitalized at Council Bluffs, and 33 at Des Moines, 16 of whom were brought in during the week whole human blood that contains end.

County Mill Levy May Drop, Tentative New Budget Indicates

Lancaster County taxpayers should have it just a little bit easier this year.

According to tentative figures released by County Clerk J. B. Morgan, the mill levy should drop about .11 mills from 1951, to 4.736 mills, compared with 4.846 mills last year.

The levy may be even lower than 4.736 mills because of two factors:

1. The preliminary report was based upon 1951 assessment figures, which are expected to be slightly lower—perhaps as much as $5,000,000 less—than this year's assessment figures. This year's preliminary figures indicate a $176,984.576 assessment without railroad and utility figures, which in 1951 amounted to $5,580.595.

2. The preliminary report is based upon budget requests sent by county department heads. The County Commissioners usually—although not always—cut these requests. But last year, the Commissioners increased the proposed budget by $9,993 over requests.

Total budget requests this year—$2,484,928—are about $65,000

Barkley Pulls Out ; Hits Labor Chiefs

By BOB COSIDENE
CHICAGO (INS)—Vice President Alben Barkley Monday night dramatically withdrew from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination and the "draft Stevenson" move swelled to almost tidal wave proportions.

Barkley's sudden announcement was made to news men summoned to his headquarters for a 10:45 p.m. (CST) conference.

Following is the partial text of Barkley's statement:

"I have asked the Kentucky delegation not to present my name as a candidate for the Democratic nomination as president. When the Kentucky state Democratic convention endorsed me for the highest office in the nation and instructed the delegates to vote for me I was profoundly grateful. Later when I had been urged by many people throughout the country to become an active candidate for president I accepted to their desire."

Appreciates Support
"Since then many elements of the Democratic party throughout the nation have offered me their support for the nomination, all of which I have appreciated."

"Because of my long experience in domestic and international affairs I felt that in this critical world period, I could serve my country well as President of the United States."

"I would be derelict in my responsibilities to the American people and to myself if I failed to state the reasons which caused me to withdraw my name from the consideration of the convention. I shall state them now."

"It has always been my belief, and my record supports this, that the Democratic party shall serve without favor the best interests of all segments of our life, the rich, the poor, the Negro, the Jew, the Catholic, the Protestant, the laborer in the field, the laborer in the factory, the businessman, the farmer and the oppressed wherever they may be."

Committed to Others
"I shall never believe and do not now believe that any of these groups should be permitted to dominate or control either of the great political parties of our nation."

"However, since arriving in Chicago I have learned that certain self-anointed political labor leaders have taken it upon themselves to announce their opposition to me as Democratic nominee for President."

"They have admitted to me that weeks ago they committed themselves to a program and to candidates other than myself, which would give them greater control of the machinery and the

New Sign To Tell Highways 'At A Glance'

To enable drivers to read highway markers "at a glance" is the avowed purpose of the new highway marker at the intersection of 10th and O, according to Robert Meyer, State Traffic Engineer.

The sign, which includes four highway markers on its surface, is the only one of its kind in Lincoln. Such signs are used only on busy intersections where there is competition for the attention of the driver, said Meyer.

"It's just a small part of a pattern we're trying to set up," explained Meyer. "We want to eliminate confusion and improve the advisory quality of highway markers."

Other new markers being experimented with on Nebraska highways include reflecting white lettering on a black background to aid strangers to Nebraska traveling at night.

"None of these signs are placed in position for good," Meyer stated. "We're still experimenting to find the best signs to fit the needs."

Bedtime Snack solves laxative problem

"I have had great success with ALL-BRAN," writes Paterson, N. J., man. "After years of constipation, I am now regular. Thanks to my 1/2 cup of ALL-BRAN every day!" If you suffer from irregularity due to lack of dietary bulk, try a bowlful of this tasty cereal every night before bed... it may bring back the youthful regularity you thought long lost. ALL-BRAN is the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's high in cereal protein, rich in iron, provides essential B and D vitamins. Not habit-forming. If you're not satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's Battle Creek, Mich., and get DOUBLE MONEY BACK!
